YOUTH CONFERENCE '72

People will try anything to get to ...

YOUTH CONFERENCE

We are anticipating a great weekend here at Taylor and would like to personally welcome you to our 39th Annual Interdenominational Youth Conference (1934-1972).

There are many exciting things planned for this year's conference including two evening services with our speaker, Bill Eakin, the area director for Youth for Christ in New York City.

Here at Taylor we consider Youth Conference as an unique opportunity to get together with you and share ideas, and laughter. We want this weekend to be one of new found expectations in Christ as well as one of singing, making new friends and fun. So, People Get Ready to join us, March 17-19, for what we know will be an enriching experience for you and for us.

Our Speaker

Bill Eakin, director of ministries for Metro New York Youth for Christ will be the speaker for this year's Youth Conference.

Eakin is charged with the recruitment and training of leadership for youth work in the New York City area. "The key word to youth work in New York City," Eakin says, "is complexity. There are so many types of people and cultural groups. We go from rural Long Island on one end to a high rise development with a quarter of a million people on the other end."

After serving several local youth programs, Eakin was appointed international club director of Youth for Christ. During nine years at that post, he logged one million air miles, including visits to 36 countries, in aiding high school campus ministries.

In 20 years of youth work, Eakin has enjoyed unusual success and earned the title, "Mr. Teenager." He is the author of scores of articles and materials on youth work and of the book, "I Can't Hear You When You Act That Way."

Youth for Christ International works in more than 35 countries and in more than 250 American communities with a program for teenagers. It is an interdenominational organization which works closely with local churches, schools and civic officials.

Co-Chairmen

We read in our newspapers and magazines of battles all over the world—Middle East, Viet Nam, India and Pakistan—to name but a few. And yet, we ourselves cannot experience fully the tremendous impact that a war can have on an individual's mind and life. In order to do that, we need to be in the battle, not talking or reading about it!

The analogy is self-evident in regard to our spiritual life and relationship with Jesus Christ. Ephesians 6:10-18 gives us our equipment but we can't stop here! We need constantly to get into the battle and always be ready to live for Him. It is my hope that Youth Conference, 1972 will instill in each of you the challenge to "get ready."

Pete Carlson

Do you realize how much of your time is spent in preparation? Stop and think about it. Hours are spent getting dressed, studying for classes, practicing for athletic events, etc. And it appears to me that somewhere in this world of petty preparation we have warped our priorities. Energies are spent in preparation for the temporal rather than the eternal. Jesus Christ came to offer himself as the initial preparation for the eternal life of each individual—eternal life which can begin the moment we accept Him as savior and Lord—eternal life which opens the door to infinite opportunity and purpose. Jesus called it the abundant life and through Youth Conference 1972, He can challenge each one of us, "People Get Ready—to live!"

Linda Kukuk

Today is the age of preparation. It is mandatory that man be aware of and ready for the unexpected. Unlike the ostrich, man cannot stick his head under the sand and take life as it comes, but must continually question as to when, where, or how it is going to happen.

The same holds true in our spiritual lives. So often we accept the Bible as the true word of God without ever really studying it while at the same time listening to what God is saying to us. Once we begin searching the scriptures we find that God has an exciting plan for our life, with Christ as the model. How important it then becomes to investigate His word.

We must be ready; We must learn of God's plan. In Ephesians 6:10-18 we find, "Finally, my brethren, be strong in the Lord, and in the power of his might . . . Wherefore take unto you the whole armor of God, that ye may be able to withstand in the evil day . . . having your loins girt about with truth . . . and your feet shod with the preparation of the gospel of peace."

"People, get ready" for an effective and exciting life through Christ. Search for and expect His best for you.
